

BAYVIEW COMMUNITY UPDATE January 5, 2005

Donations for Gym and Police Offices

In response to a Channel 2 news piece aired this past weekend about our police office inside the Hunter's Point Gym, numerous community members (and others) have donated games, toys, and electronic equipment for the gym and the office. Many thanks to Tom Vacar of Channel 2 for bringing attention to this issue, and many thanks to the numerous citizens who have generously provided much needed items for the kids living on Hunter's Point Hill (and elsewhere).

Water Polo

I know it was a tough sell to try to get our Bayview kids to take up the games of golf and soccer, but we're taking it a step further, and now wish to help facilitate some water polo clinics. A group of water polo players who regularly practice at the MLK Pool (3rd and Carroll) contacted us recently after seeing some of the news pieces done about our efforts to provide activities for Bayview kids, and they have offered to provide a water polo clinic for Bayview kids in February. We at Bayview Station will work closely with this group to provide a safe and friendly environment for the children as they are exposed to yet another new activity.

Crime and Enforcement Update

On January 4, at 4:30 a.m., Bayview Station Officer Cahill responded to the 1600 block of Oakdale on a domestic violence call. The officer located the female caller, who was standing outside and holding her face. The woman had injuries to her face and was bleeding from both nostrils. The woman stated that she had gone looking for her boyfriend early this morning, and became angry when she found him with two other women. The boyfriend then punched the victim in her face several times and fled the scene. The boyfriend, who lives on the 1700 block of Newcomb, was not at his home when officers checked. On January 4, at 5:09 a.m., Bayview Officers Batchelder and Bates responded to the 1100 block of Wisconsin on a burglary call. The caller told officers that someone had just stolen his tools and stereo from his garage.

Two teams of officers quickly began searching the area, and located a man walking down the street with a stereo. Feeling this was more than coincidental, the officers stopped the man in front of 900 Connecticut Street. The man told the officers that a guy named "Larry" had just given him the stereo, and the officers saw additional property nearby, including a television set and a sleeping bag. The victim was brought to the scene and identified all of the property as his. The victim then told officers that he had been awakened by a loud "boom," which he realized was his garage door being slammed. He went to his garage and saw that numerous items of his property were missing. The detained man was booked for possession of stolen property and an outstanding arrest warrant. Note that there have been numerous burglaries in the Potrero Hill area in the past few weeks wherein entry was gained through garages (050 009 983).

The officers entered the unit where the caller lived, and saw that the rear door was ajar. The victim told the officers that her boyfriend must have just fled from the apartment upon seeing the officers. The victim told the officers that she had seen her boyfriend using her cell phone and believed that he was speaking with another woman. This led to an argument, and the boyfriend then punched the victim in the face. The victim wanted no police action and told the officers that she just wanted to make the relationship work.
